CAPITOL BRILLIANT AT NIGHT

Brilliant in its electrical and fireworks display and magnificent in the splendor of the gowns displayed at the ball and reception Honolulu's third Fourth of July celebration since annexation closed last night; or, to be exact, in the early hours of this morning. By many both the ball and the electrical display were thought to have surpassed those of inauguration day two years ago.

THE FIREWORKS.

The fireworks in the Capitol grounds went off without a hitch. The crowd which witnessed this display was even larger than that which enjoyed the parade in the morning, and the exclamations of delight with which each additional fiery shot was greeted showed that everyone was more than satisfied. There were bombs and rockets and novel and bewildering fireballs in endless profusion, and the babel of tones of surprised wonder was an indication of the make-up as well as the size of the crowd.

THE ELECTRICAL DISPLAY.

The electrical display was at once beautiful and of service. In every conceivable part of the Capitol grounds illuminated discs flashed red, white and blue. Over the entrance to the Capitol grounds was an arch of glowing fire, while the front of the building was a myriad of dazzling lights, the snowy white of the stone forming a perfect background. Over the central entrance door was the American flag in colors, the brilliant intermittent illumination beneath which gave it the appearance of a living flag.

THE RECEPTION.

On the inside the beauty of the exterior was surpassed by the wealth of decoration and the display of handsome gowns. The Governor's reception was held in the old legislative hall, which had been artistically decorated for the occasion. Along the walls were draped streamers of evergreens, the mirrors were bedecked with green, and over the old throne were entwined the American and Hawaiian flags. Beneath, forming a striking background for the receiving party, were potted plants and ferns and palms. In the rear line were the Governor and Mrs. Dole, Judge and Mrs. M. M. Estee and Chief Justice and Mrs. W. F. Frear. Secretary and Mrs. Cooper were unable to be present, owing to Mr. Cooper's illness.

The guests as they arrived were presented by members of the Governor's staff, and after passing the receiving line, were taken in charge by the reception committee, which was composed of 30 young ladies.

Mrs. Dole wore a gray Duchesse satin trimmed with white lace, worn en train. Mrs. Frear wore a pink and white lace. Mrs. M. M. Estee wore a white satin trimmed with real lace and black passementerie. Among those who assisted were Mrs. Richard Ivers, who wore a canary yellow satin, trimmed with yellow chiffon with applied lace. Mrs. A. G. Hawes Jr. was attired in a white organdie trimmed with Valenciennes lace and turquoise blue velvet trimmings.

Mrs. F. Howard Humphreys wore a white pina applied with black lace. Mrs. W. Porter Boyd was attired in a black point d'esprit. Miss Nellie White had a handsome black lace over taffeta. Miss Girard wore a striped white and yellow tulle cloth, trimmed with black lace over white taffeta. Mrs. George Smith wore a black lace, over black taffeta. Miss Rose Davidson was attired in a handsome champagne colored all-over lace over blue peau de sole, trimmed with blue turquoise. Mrs. Mott-Smith wore a handsome gray crepe du chine Empire gown, velvet straps and white tiger lilies. Mrs. Gardner Wilder wore a black pina over white taffeta. Among others who assisted were Miss Kate Kelley, Miss Cunha, Miss Lillian Bacon, Miss Roth, Mrs. Marston Campbell, Miss Marion Scott, Miss Angus, Mrs. McCully-Smith, Miss Carter, Mrs. Riggs, Mrs. Gartley, Mrs. J. G. Pratt, Mrs. Helen Kelley, Miss Lily Spreckels were one of the most beautiful gowns. It was a yellow chiffon trimmed with champagne colored applique lace over a slip of lavender chiffon, this over a slip of blue chiffon under which appeared white taffeta. The effect was a shimmering mass of color.

Among those present were Mons. Vizzavona, the French consul; British Consul Hoare, Chinese Consul Yang Wei Pin, Italian Consul Schaefer, Admiral Merry, U. S. N.; Dr. Taylor, U. S. N.; Lieut. Signor, U. S. N.; Consul H. Pocke, Major Davis, U. S. A.; Captain Williamson, U. S. A.; Lieut. Col. Girard, U. S. A.; members of the consulates, Army and Navy, and the National Guard of Hawaii officers, who were present in full regiments.

THE BALL.

Dancing began promptly at 9:30 o'clock in the specially constructed lanai at Waikiki of the throne room. This was also beautifully decorated. Streamers of evergreen ran from the center of the ceiling to the sides of the rooms, which were literally covered with flags and bunting of every color and variety, though arranged with artistic effect. The Territorial band was stationed in a recess between the lanai and the throne room, where it could be heard on both floors, which were used by the dancers.

The grand march was joined in by about a hundred couples, though there were many dancers, in addition, on the floor. Then followed the dance program, and extras almost without intermission, Captain Berger being extremely liberal with his dance music.

During the intermission many of the dancers found their way to the frappe and lemonade bowls on the mauka lanai, while below in the hallway refreshments of more substantial form were served at small tables.

Altogether there were probably between two and three thousand guests at the ball, many of them overflowing onto the mauka lanai, where chairs had been placed for their convenience, while others frequented the inviting nooks in the spacious Capitol grounds.

During the exhibition of fireworks last night in the Capitol grounds, sparks set fire to several pieces and set fire to the stand from which they were being discharged. Quite a commotion was caused, but the man in charge stayed by his packages and put the blaze out before much damage had been done.
